Progressive Buffet

Your guests will begin eating upon arrival and progress from station to station throughout the event. This style provides your guests with the largest selection of food. Everyone can have a complete meal in a festive and mingling atmosphere. The buffet will be open for two hours. All silverware, plates and cocktail napkins are placed on the buffets. Each station is attended by a professional server who replenishes food and describes menu items. Constant attention is given to cleanliness of tables and buffets.

The Classic Buffet

This style of food service provides all guests with the menu that has been selected by the host on a serve-yourself basis. Silverware, napkins and plates are provided at the buffet table. Buffet stations are attended by professional servers to maintain cleanliness and describe menu items .

Family Style

This style of food service allows for a seated dinner. The tables are pre-set with all dinnerware. The salad, bread and drinks are also available upon your guest's arrival. The menu items are then served on large platters. Guests serve themselves a portion from the platter provided for the table and then pass the platter on, as one would when eating with their family.

The Seated Dinner

All courses are served to your guests after they are seated. This is the most formal style of service. Guests may be given a choice of entrée prior to the event. If so, it may be necessary for the host to provide a seating chart .
